

People travel long distances for Penge's independent traders

OPEN

Penge High Street is for business...

With shops, bars, cafes, restaurants and those all important hair dressers coming out of lockdown, Penge High Street's great mix of small traders and national outlets can meet all your needs with easy access by bus, train or car. For drivers, Penge offers the unique advantage of FREE PARKING in the Blenheim Centre car park (entrance off Blenheim Road). No other local High Street can match that. So, you can safely leave your car with no worries and enjoy all Penge has to offer.

For food, drink, groceries or household goods, you can choose from well-known national chains such as Sainsbury's, Tesco, Lidl, Homebase, Wilkos or Iceland but Penge's independent traders are also here to serve you.

Penge can boast both fresh meat and fresh fish shops. Murray Brothers have been selling high quality meat for many years to locals and further away.

Penge Quality Fish has built a great reputation for service and variety and will prepare your fish for you and Penge Food Centre is the place for your specialist or hard to find ingredients.

Twang supplies every imaginable type of musical instrument and accessory and can also match you to high quality tuition to make you sound even better.

And if you're looking for something special, Solitaire Jewellers can give you plenty of options.

If lockdown has persuaded you to take up cycling, SE20 Cycles can meet all your needs.

For more personal pampering, one of Penge's many hairdressers is waiting to serve you.

Perhaps your more interested in home and garden. Designer Drapes and their quality service of curtains and soft furnishings should be the first place you call. Or for the garden, the delightful Alexandra Nurseries in Parish Lane will be opening again soon.

Lemar is Penge's first Street Ranger. His role will be to liaise between shops and shoppers and make your visit to Penge even better. Whether you want directions, advice on social distancing, the time of the next train or to report fly-tipping, Lemar is there to help.

If the shopping exhausts you, Penge can satisfy your thirst as well as your hunger...

Some venues will have restricted openings or be operating as take aways to begin with.

There's a choice of modern and traditional pubs as well as plenty of cafés, These include the north African influenced Café Casbah, Antonella's home cooked Italian food and more traditional fare.

In Maple Road you can chose from our international offerings - Japanese, Chinese, Thai, Caribbean, Chez Yve's French bistro and delicatessen or the eclectic mix from Blue Belle's. And in Green Lane, Friends of Flavours offers high-class Italian dining.

Follow social distancing and stay safe while you enjoy everything Penge has to offer.
